Painting pumpkins annual tradition for elders and teenagers

From goblins and ghouls to Tinker Bell, the annual pumpkin painting celebration at Stensrud Lodge turns up both usual and unusual Halloween faces. Grade 8 students from St. Augustine School partner with Stensrud residents to create dozens of brightly coloured pumpkins, which are a different take on the traditional carved jack o' lantern—plus the painted pumpkins last longer.

Painted creations will be sold following the event with proceeds supporting lodge recreation activities.
